Priests' Space

Dear Members of Holy Ghost Parish:

Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow! (Except on school days and before, during, and after Sunday Masses!) This means that the only convenient time for snow of any depth around here would be Saturday morning and early Sunday night. I mention this because many of our people live some distance from the church or on side streets and roads so they just can't make it to the most important hour of the 168 hours of each week: Sunday Mass. Also, collections are down, especially the offertory collection (the most important and necessary one of all each week). Catholics who come, give; Catholics who do not come, don't give. And as we begin to add up the exact final costs of the crypt renovation at the Church and the construction of the new gymnasium/performing arts center at St. Joseph School we begin to realize more and more what an awesome debt we have assumed. Please try to make contributions in as timely manner as possible: earlier contributions - less interest on the debt. Please keep current with your pledges. Again, the sooner we pay, the less interest there will be on these debts.

I need to ask your more intense cooperation in the care of and use of our new facilities. As stated on the front of our bulletin each week "Use Cry Room at any Sunday Mass; guardian remains with child." It goes without saying that no child should be unattended in the basement. If a child needs to be excused from the nave during Mass, an adult should accompany him/her. This has little, if anything, to do with religion as such. It has everything to do with responsible common sense. Although we shudder to think about it, the prospects for a young person, alone, being attached in physical surroundings such as we enjoy here are far from impossible. We can't lock up every room all the time or facilities and amenities would not be available to you. So, we must work together to maintain security and safety in our churches and schools. During the final week of January nearly fifty dollars (actual replacement value of items taken) worth of first aid supplies were pilfered from one of the new rest rooms. We have restocked that kit and it now resides on a window sill in Father Henkel Hall. That took money we do not have. Some of our new churches in the diocese have found out the hard way too. Where once there was easy access to supplies, food, utensils, brooms, mops, etc. those parishes have resorted to locking up even rest rooms, supply closets, removed first aid kits and participation aids (some even in the church!) Surely

My dear Parishioners,

Peace! The first article of the Apostle's Creed is: I believe in God the Father almighty, creator of Heaven and Earth. There are forty "in brief" statements in The Catechism of the Catholic Church which treat this article of our saving faith. What follows is a reflection on article 354.

As followers of Jesus Christ we are not 'antinomians' (those who are against laws). Laws are 'ordinance of reason' (cf. Saint Thomas Aquinas. Summa Theologiae, I-II, Q. 90, A. 1). There are civil laws (tax laws, traffic laws...). There are ecclesiastical laws (holy days of obligation, regarding Holy Marriage and the other Sacraments...). The Catechism here, however, is focusing in on the Natural Law and the laws of nature. Inertia and gravity (Isaac Newton, 1642-1727) are two very commonly appreciated such laws: an object in motion tends to stay in motion unless met with equal or greater contrary force; bodies tend toward the center of the Earth or any other physical body having mass. The Ten Commandments are a revealed expression of the Natural Law which can be known similarly without the aid of grace or revelation (hence it is called 'natural'). The Catechism has an entire section treating the Commandments of God and of the Church. The Lord did not come to destroy but rather to fulfill the Law (Matthew 5:17). Our Savior even respects the smallest parts of the Law (Matthew 5:18). Jesus summarizes the Law and the Prophets in what is known as the 'Golden Rule' to do unto others as we would have them do to us. The philosopher Immanuel Kant (1724-1804) uses this as the basis of his 'categorical imperative.' In another summary of the Law and the Prophets Jesus calls us to love God, neighbor and self (Matthew 22:36-40).

That as living beings we need so much food and water and oxygen shows that there is a certain relationship between us as beings-in-the-world and other things in creation. If I eat peas I will normally be healthy. If I eat poisonous berries I may get sick and die prematurely. There have been some thinkers who have denied 'causality' (David Hume, 1711-1776) but so much (all!) of our modern scientific medicine actually presuppose the regularity of nature and the nature of things.

Others reputedly deny that things have natures. That we have human nature, being rational animals, is not only a classical philosophical truism but likewise part of the deposit of faith in so far as God is the Creator of Heaven and Earth, all that is seen and unseen. We see each other, we recognize our human nature even if it is part of the unseen creation.

Central & Eastern Europe Collection . . . Since the collapse of the former Soviet Union in 1991, Central and Eastern European countries have been working to rebuild political structures, social welfare, and the economy. The USCB Subcommittee on the Church in Central and Eastern Europe funds projects in 28 countries to build the pastoral capacity of the Church and to rebuild and restore the faith and the light of Christ in these countries that have dark pasts but bright futures. The funds collected in the collection for the Church in Central and Eastern Europe are used to grant monies to support seminaries, social service programs, youth ministry, pastoral centers, church construction and renovation, and the transmission of the Gospel message through television, radio, and the Catholic press. Through contributions and prayer, we can bring light to Central and Eastern Europe and help rebuild all that was lost during decades of persecution.
