Workshop Description This presentation provides an overview of interpreting from global perspectives. The presenter traveled to New Zealand to work with interpreters in that country for one month. The highlights of that visit will be featured. For example, New Zealand Sign Language (NZSL) is a nationally legislated and official language; and Auckland has the world's largest Deaf club. The focus will be on the cultures, languages, and interpreting practices of New Zealand.

Educational Objectives

- To increase interpreters' knowledge and broaden perspectives about international trends and practices in the field of interpretation.
- To learn more about the languages and cultures of New Zealand (Maori, NZSL, and English), and implications for interpreters.
- To compare sign language interpreting professional practices between the US and New Zealand.
